When nine-year-old Rob Cole's mother died, he could not foresee that the awareness of impending death was a gift that would lead him from the familiar life of 11th-century London to small villages throughout England and finally to the medical school at Isfahan. Though apprenticed to an itinerant barber surgeon, it is the dazzling surgery of a Jewish physician trained by the legendary Persian physician Avicenna that inspires him to accept his gift and to commit his life to healing. Despite the ban on Christian students, Rob goes there, disguising himself as a Jew to gain admission. An adventurous and inspiring tale of a quest for medical knowledge pursued in a violent world full of superstition and prejudice. Adult content.
